

Coming to a street near you?

'Beardless Rabbit's Foot grass' - Polypogon viridia. Also known as Water Bent. This grass is a native of the Med' region, and "one of the fastest spreading plants in the UK, particularly urban areas", but nobody knows why. In Greenwood's book of 2012 it is classed as Rare. I have been watching it spread along streets in Bispham.

There is lots of it.

Something to look out for ?!
