

Eyes open, please for Dun Sentinel!

The Marine Recorder for
The Conchological Society of Great Britain and Ireland, has asked us to look out for Dun Sentinel - Assiminea grayana

“A species which for centuries has been confined to North Sea areas, but recently appeared in the North East Irish Sea.

“To be found on Saltings and Salt Pasture along tidal stretches of a river.

“Go upstream until almost fresh water, where the salt pasture narrows...”

Any sightings / pictures / location to Williamrambler@yahoo.co.uk or Ian Smith, recorder. c/o secretary@conchsoc.org